Welcome Address

Lars Mehlum
Congress President

Dear Colleagues and Friends,

I am extremely happy on behalf of the ESSPD to welcome you all to the 5th International Congress on Borderline Personality Disorder (BPD) in Sitges. We trust you will make the most out of the next few days and participate actively in what we expect will be vibrant scientific sessions and clinical discussions! We hope you will learn something new, that you will share your knowledge and that you will expand your professional network.

After all, this is what congresses are all about – sharing new knowledge and discussing new ideas. In the field of BPD there is certainly a strong need for us to do exactly this and thus speed up the process of developing knowledge based treatments and trainings. The field of personality disorder research is rapidly expanding with new ideas and new research paradigms allowing big leaps forward. Our diagnostic systems are in transformation and we need to keep up with the rapid developments in the ways we think about BPD and the empirical basis for this syndrome. How we conceptualize personality disorder in general and BPD in particular will have profound effects on both research, clinical practice and training. As a matter of fact, this is not something we can leave to others to define and decide. It is we – the community of researchers, clinicians, policy makers and users - who are the ones who will have to find the good answers for the future. The theme for this congress “Rethinking Borderline Personality Disorder: Improving Treatment and Training” reflects this important task. Let therefore this congress be part of the process of finding new answers!

The ESSPD Borderline congresses have become a tremendous success attracting scientists and clinicians of every walk of PD research and practice from mainstream neuroscience to the major psychotherapy schools in this field. The avenues for crosswalk thus created have proven very fruitful in the past. We believe you will find this congress concept fruitful and inspiring here in Sitges as well!

Best regards,

Lars Mehlum

*Joaquim Soler Ribaudi
Chair of the Local Organizing Committee*

Dear colleagues and friends,

It is a pleasure to invite you to the 5th International Congress of Borderline Personality Disorder (BPD) to be held jointly with the 12th National Congress of Personality Disorders organized by the ESSPD and the SEETP from 27 to 29 September 2018 in Sitges. This time it is our honour, to promote collaboration and to create synergies among our European colleagues and us, to connect everyone's research on BPD and Personality Disorders. Our purpose is to gather similar motivations and interests, this is the real heart of both meetings.

In not many years the international conference on the BPD has become a unique event in the field of personality disorders thanks to the relentless effort of many clinicians and researchers that have to deal with such a challenged issue which is the BPD. In this critical moment, in which the existence of personality Disorders and BPD is questioned, evidence-based science is needed more than ever. Our Congress is committed with the state of the art of this complex field. We want to include remarkable advances in neurosciences, mechanisms of change, developmental studies and also the latest psychotherapeutic innovations. Previous congresses in Berlin, Amsterdam, Rome and Vienna endeavoured to present the high level scientific research and at the same time new and useful formative proposals. This emphasis on training is present in the current motto "Rethinking Borderline Personality Disorder: Improving Treatment and Training".

The final goal is to update all the aspects associated with Borderline Personality Disorders in order to continue advancing both to a better therapeutic approach of our patients.

The setting for this meeting is the beautiful coastal city of Sitges, located between the mountains of Garraf, facing the Mediterranean Sea. Sitges is close and well connected to Barcelona. I hope that the warm weather of Sitges, its beautiful promenade, its old town and its huge variety of restaurants facing the sea, contribute to make this congress as interesting as pleasant for you.

It will be therefore a pleasure for us to have your presence and your participation to the 5th International Congress of BPD and the 12th National Congress of Personality Disorders.

Best wishes,

Selection Procedure of the Awards

Posters have become increasingly important as a communication medium at congresses. In some areas of science, for instance in the medical field, posters have even become the core of the meeting. Indeed, on scientific conferences poster presentations are an efficient way to deal with the increasing demand of researchers to display and discuss their own research with colleagues. The ESSPD continues to stimulate this development and to increase the quality of poster presentations. For this reason all posters will be peer reviewed.

During the congress a jury of three experts in our field will judge the posters. All accepted poster presentations are candidate for the ESSPD poster award. The poster award jury will evaluate the posters onsite during the conference and will announce the winner during the closing ceremony. The final selection of poster awards will be made on the basis of the study's scientific excellence during the congress. The best 3 posters will receive the 1st, 2nd and 3rd ESSPD poster award valued at EUR 300, EUR 200 and EUR 100 respectively.

Young Researcher Award

The European Society for the Study of Personality disorders established the Young Researchers Award in order to stimulate young researchers to perform innovative research in the broad field of personality disorders. The selection criteria for the award jury are: The research idea has to be original, innovative and methodologically sound. It has to connect different domains of research, resulting in a new perspective. Moreover the research has to be the applicant's own project and may not be part of a larger institutional project and has to be adequately presented and discussed. A medal of the ESSPD is handed to the awardee as well as a cash award of EUR 1.000.

The award for 2018 will be presented by the President of the Society at the 5th International ESSPD congress in Sitges, Spain, 27 – 29 September 2018. The Laureate is invited to give a special lecture (20–30 minutes) on his/her work.

Format Descriptions and Programme Structure

CME Course (CME)

Duration: 180 – 240 min

Different CME-courses at an extra cost are offered on the 27 September 2018. A separate registration is required, but it is not mandatory to register for the congress if you wish to book a CME-course.

Plenary Session (PL)

Duration: 90 min

Two eminent experts will present papers on the congress' main topics. There will be a simultaneous translation from English into Spanish for the Plenary Sessions.

Presidential Debate (PD)

Duration: 90 minutes

Each symposium at the congress is scheduled for 90 minutes which equals three to five speakers (e.g. 4x20 minutes including discussion) chaired by one or two scientists or clinicians (opening remarks and conclusions).

Workshop (W)

Duration: 90 minutes

Workshops help to further broaden the participant's expertise in a particular field of knowledge.

Clinical Discussion (CD)

Duration: 90 minutes

Clinical discussions specifically focus on highly relevant clinical topics. A chair and two to four clinical experts present and discuss including the audience.

Dialogue Meeting (DM)

Duration: 90 minutes

The dialogue meetings have been established to bridge the gap between research and clinical work. A specific research question is presented by a well-established researcher and afterwards the clinical relevance is discussed with eminent clinicians and the audience.

Lunch with Experts (LE)

Duration: 60 minutes

The lunches with experts particularly focus on younger researchers, but they are open to everyone without a specific registration. They offer the possibility to get into a more informal contact with eminent researchers and to discuss a broad range of individual questions. Please meet the experts at the reserved tables at the hotel restaurant.

Oral Presentation (OP)

Duration: Usually 10 min + 5 min

Oral presentations have been selected by the Scientific Committee after abstract submissions had been reviewed. The 90-minute sessions will be grouped by topics and chaired by selected specialists. The time slot for a single presentation is 15 minutes including discussion time.

Poster Session (P)

Duration: Usually 10 min incl. Q & A

The posters have been selected by the Scientific Committee after abstract submissions had been reviewed. Posters are grouped into thematic poster tours and will be on display for the entire congress period. During the 90-minute poster sessions on Friday, 28 September 2018, authors are asked to present their latest research findings and discuss them with the audience. A power point presentation is not required.
